Delta Engineers & Architects, PC is pleased to announce the acquisition of Catskill Mountain Architects, PC

Delta Engineers & Architects, PC (Delta) recently acquired Catskill Mountain Architects, PC, a Delaware County based Architectural Firm. Catskill Mountain has been providing architectural services for the past four years to the Catskill Mountain Region and their projects have included the design of commercial buildings, hotels, office buildings, civic buildings, college dormitory facilities, recreational facilities, residential homes, and custom built homes.

Lee Marigliano, AIA (founder of Catskill Mountain Architects) has become a new principal with Delta. Lee is a registered architect and has fifteen years of experience. While working in New York City, Mr. Marigliano was a key designer on large scale projects such as the new American Airlines Terminal 8 at JFK International Airport, award winning Wyndham International Hotel, PNC Park Transit Station, and renovations to the Grand Central Terminal.

Robert Landsman, AIA joins Delta as a Senior Project Architect. Mr. Landsman was the Senior Project Manager for the Knox Hall Renovation at Columbia University, as well as the Project Architect for the design and construction of a 50,000 sf Chemistry Building at MIT. As a Project Director in New York City, Mr. Landsman was responsible for the restoration and renovation of the Statue of Liberty in 1986 and collaborated with artist Robert Irwin to design the award winning Tower 45 in New York City. He was also the consultant for a 70 story tower in Moscow and the Maitraya Project, a 150 ft statue of Buddha, in India.

Leon Key joins Delta as an Architectural Designer. Mr. Key has nine years experience as a designer on projects ranging from large scale educational facilities such as Ilion Central, Richfield Springs Central, Clinton Central, and Owen D. Young Central Schools to smaller projects such as the new branch location for Delaware National Bank of Delhi and the renovation of the Harpersfield Town Hall.

Andrea Bartow joins Delta Engineers team as an Assistant Architectural Designer. Ms. Bartow has experience working on residential and commercial projects, many involving historic renovations.

Delta Engineers proudly welcomes our new team members!
