Delta's Summer Internship Program Provides Opportunities for Young Engineers & Architects

Delta Engineers provides opportunities for future engineers and architects with their summer internship program. This program allows for the growth and development of young engineers and architects to understand and see first hand the day to day operations of a consulting firm.

Several key components we look for when hiring interns is their past experience, skill set, extracurricular activities, and grade point average. Summer interns who have AutoCAD courses or experience have a significant advantage over their peers. Once hired, the ability to take initiative and learn is key in their success.

Joshua Stewart, presently an intern in our Civil Engineering Department, said it best during his second interview. "I am looking at this (summer internship) as an opportunity to get my foot in the door." Josh will be finishing his associates in science degree in Engineering Science from Broome Community College. Josh will be continuing his education in the fall at the University of Buffalo, where he has been accepted into the Civil Engineering program.

We told Josh that he will likely have several opportunities once he graduates and we are just hoping that he will consider Delta Engineers as his future place of employment.

Delta continuously looks for interns, who upon graduation, will fill positions in this rewarding profession. Delta will be exhibiting a booth at SUNY Institute of Technology Career Fair in March on a quest to find the next generation of engineers and architects.
